

Buffer - A Better Way to Share on Social Media

Are you looking for some software that can schedule your social media posts for you?
Looking to save time and schedule posts in advance? Welcome to the world of Buffer!

A Smarter Way to Share.

Buffer gives you the ability to schedule social media posts in advance for Facebook, Twitter and more. Posts can be scheduled up to five times a day and by allowing Buffer to analyse your social media platforms, it provides the best times for your content to be seen by your online audience.

The interface looks like below. You can add up to four images, URLs, text and hashtags into each scheduled post. As you add content, you can easily select which of your social accounts you want to post to. You can post the same content to all accounts or add context by customising each one.

You can also create beautiful images for your scheduled posts with Pablo. Part of the Buffer suite, there are over 600,000 images available to use and a great choice of templates. The interface looks like below:

The best thing about Buffer? It's free to use! There are paid options available, for different sized organisations and requirements, but if you want to just schedule up to nine posts at a time, then it is completely free. Also, you can look over your data as Buffer provides weekly analytic reports, which are emailed to you once your schedule has finished. So, you can see what is working and what needs improving, Result!
